

Chocolate Executive Sales Overview

Total Revenue

¥100.3M

Total Orders

196K

Average Order value

¥512.8

Total Boxes Shipped

28M

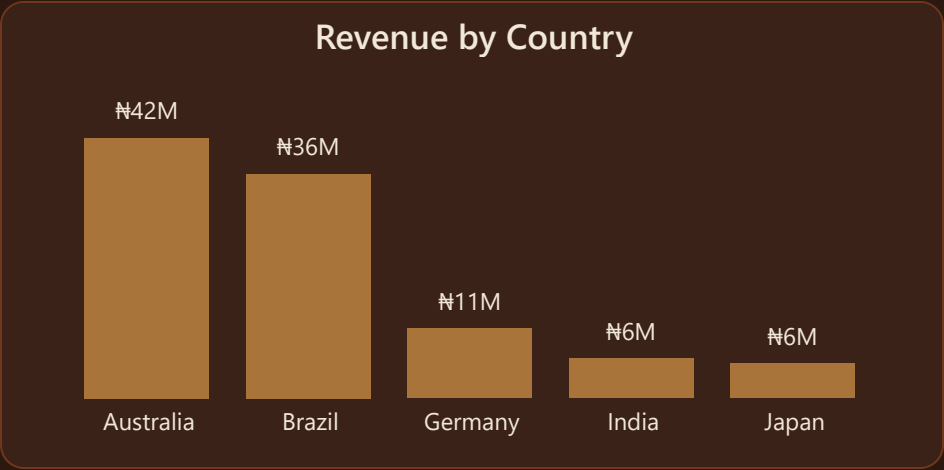

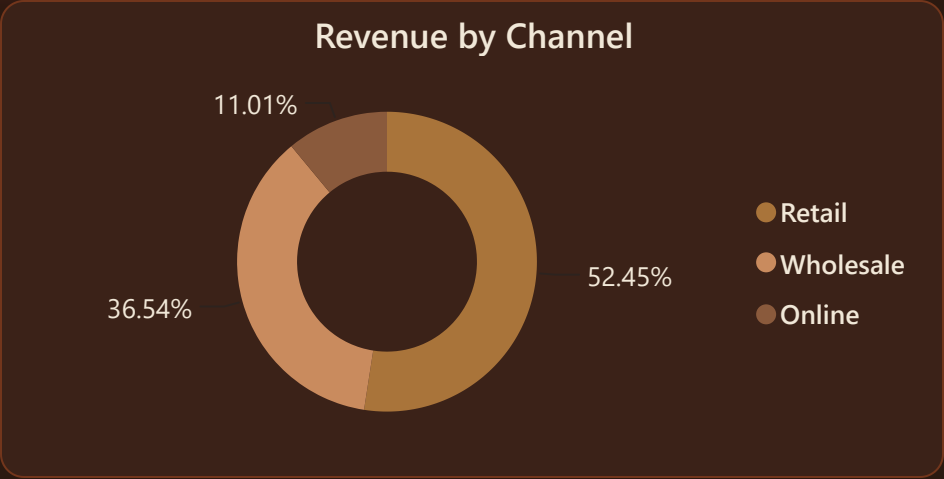

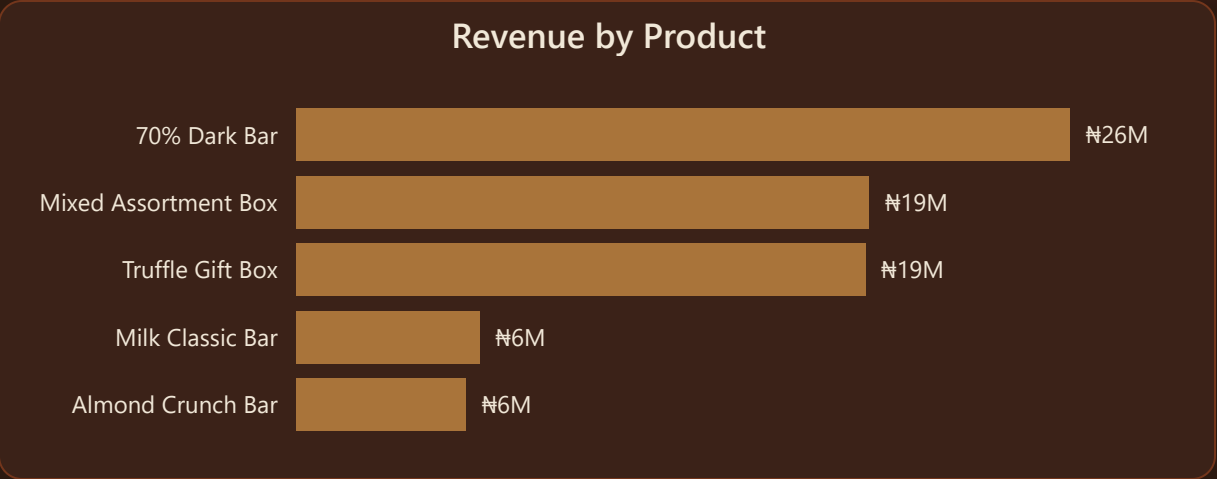

☐ 2022

☐ 2023

Salesperson

All

▼

Performance Scorecards

Country	Total Revenue	Average Order value	Total Orders
Australia	¥41,508,668.8	¥458.2	90585
Brazil	¥35,812,887.0	¥691.7	51778
Germany	¥11,123,119.2	¥449.3	24759
India	¥6,347,554.3	¥370.7	17124
Japan	¥5,534,594.3	¥485.4	11403

Product	Total Revenue	Average Order value	Total Boxes Shipped
Mixed Assortment Box	¥19,099,592.6	¥909.9	5314069
Choco Coins Bag	¥4,680,389.7	¥737.1	1288499
Almond Crunch Bar	¥5,658,765.4	¥630.5	1572739
Truffle Gift Box	¥18,973,303.6	¥601.2	5249171
Pralines Gift Box	¥5,637,929.2	¥452.6	1573599
70% Dark Bar	¥25,794,612.6	¥406.7	7157653
Milk Classic Bar	¥6,118,923.5	¥386.8	1697822

How to serve customers better

- 1. Lean further into 70% Dark Bar and gift boxes. The Dark Bar, Mixed Assortment Box, and Truffle Gift Box together make up about 65% of all revenue. Stocking these deeper and bundling them as starter sets for new customers plays to proven demand.
- 2. Treat Australia and Brazil as the core markets. Together they're 77% of revenue. Brazil has the highest average order value ($691.63) of any country — worth testing loyalty perks or bulk pricing there to push average orders even higher.
- 3. Grow India and Japan deliberately. Both trail far behind in total revenue but aren't underperforming on order size. Targeted local marketing or a wider product range in these markets could unlock volume that's currently missing.
- 4. Wholesale customers spend more per order ($632.66 avg) than Retail or Online. A dedicated wholesale account-management track — volume discounts, faster reordering — could deepen this channel fuer.
- 5. Smooth out the holiday spike. Revenue jumps every December and dips through mid-year. Off-season promotions (Feb–Aug) could flatten the curve and keep production and staffing more predictable.
- 6. Discounting is fairly even across products (~13%) — it isn't driving the differences in sales. Customers are choosing Dark Bar and gift sets on taste and value, not discount depth, so marketing budget is better spent on visibility for those favorites than on deeper discounts.